

News Release

New product Marine Lube now available for Boat Owners

Since 1884, feldten is an expert in providing innovative protective solutions for materials and protection against weather and wear. The traditional brand is powered up a new segment feldtenmarine by innovative nanotechnology for boat care. feldtenmarine Gelcoat Sealer UV +, a 3-in-1 product for treatment of all gelcoat surface above the waterline, is the topseller with worldwide distribution. With the products Metal Sealer and Propeller & Drive Sealer there are two more products with a prosperous future. Metal Sealer effectively cleans and seals all metallic surfaces above the waterline. Propeller & Drive Sealer protects propeller, drive and other metallic surfaces under the waterline.

At METS trade 2012, feldtenmarine now launch a brand new product. Marine Lube, based on cutting edge chemical nanotechnology, is a smart lubrication especially designed for marine use.

The marine environment is the hardest; salt water, UV radiation, mechanical wear and tear all leave their mark. Lubrication on f.eks. deck equipment and rig with standard oily lubrication products leave an oily film and attract dirt, dust, and other impurities.

Marine Lube is a non-greasy smart lubricant designed for various moving parts on boat, from engine to deck equipment and rig, providing optimum anti-friction properties. The ultrathin protective film does not attract dust, dirt and other soiling. Furthermore, it provides excellent anti-corrosive properties.

It is the unique technology and composition of the product that makes the difference. The new Marine Lube formulation is based on non-greasy components. It is specially designed for marine environment performing an ultra thin binding matrix. Marine Lube bonds instantly to clean and dry surfaces creating very thin, and long-lasting lubrication for all fast and slow moving parts. It can be applied on engine parts, travellers, furlers, mast tracks, genoa/mainsail tracks, blocks, hatches, and sliding doors, plus many other areas that need lubrication.

Feldten Marine supply innovative products for boat owners and all sea lovers.

Product Manager, Dr. Mathias Becker: "Our products are based on a very advanced technology, they are safe and easy to use. This is the very core of our product line."

Marine Lube retails at EUR 19,99 (VAT incl.) - for 250ml spray can
